Lifeguarding Services Australia announced as the Water Safety Provider for the 2010 Gold Coast Half Ironman

Tuesday, 21 September 2010

The Gold Coast Half Ironman is one of six races in the Australian Half Ironman Triathlon Series held around Australia. Lifeguarding Services Australia has provided the aquatic rescue to the Canberra and Sydney Half Ironman events for the past 5 years and this year will assist the organisers in providing professional water safety to both supervise and respond to any aquatic based emergencies during the swim leg.

National Lifeguard Manager Shannon Job will be overseeing the water rescue working with the professional and experienced staff at USM events; the organiser of the Gold Coast Half Ironman.

“This year was our first time working with USM events for the 2010 Dextro Energy Triathlon ITU World Championship Series in Sydney, in which we provided the water safety and aquatic rescue services. Our two organisations worked well together in providing what has been called one of the best triathlons in the world.

We are looking forward to continuing this relationship and bringing our professional services to this event”.

Lifeguarding Services Australia will be deploying lifeguards on rescue boards, Inflatable rescue boats and a Rescue Watercraft for the event.
